1. 课堂出席、上课表现

Attendance

- If your absence is planned (a religious observance, planned extracurricular activity, etc.), then you must notify me in advance.
- An incomplete will be given only to students who have missed the final exam due to serious illness or family emergency under the condition that their work is satisfactory during the semester.
- Please note that your absence for a tutorial session is equivalent to an absence of a regular class.

2. 课堂报告

Each student has to give a PPT presentation on the course content assigned by the instructor. The presentation should be 8-minute long. You are encouraged to discuss and rehearse your presentation with your IIA. You can also schedule an appointment with the instructor for comments. You will be graded based on fluency, accuracy, pronunciation and organization of the contents. You MUST give your presentation on the date listed on the syllabus. Not presenting on the assigned date will result in zero for your presentation grade.

3. 课前预习小考

In a preview quiz, students will need to answer multiple choice or True/False questions, translate sentences, and write down the sentences read by the instructor. A quiz is usually administered in the BEGINNING of the class.

4. 回家功课

Homework is designed to help students understand the course content more by practicing new words and grammar. The types of homework involved include listening/speaking/reading/writing exercises. Late submission (the day after the due date) will result in deduction of 1 point. Assignments more than two days late will NOT be accepted.

5-7. 期中、期末考试

There is no make-up for missed exams unless you have valid documents for your absence. Study guides will be provided to help students better prepare for the exams.

8. 辅导课

You will have two II sessions per week. Your attendance and performance in the II sessions are included in the final grade calculation. In the II sessions, your IIA will work with you regarding the course content and help you further advance your Chinese skills.
